MRS. F. H. MURPHREE ENTERTAINED ON BIRTHDAY—

Mrs. F. H. Murphree was given a surprise birthday dinner Tuesday evening at 6 o'clock, when Mrs. Murphree had as guests the members of the Elba Chamber of Commerce.

Quantities of flowers arranged in pretty containers formed the decorations throughout the affair. The color note was pink and green. In the dining room the table was covered with a snowy white linen cloth, and centered with a pretty birthday cake, with white and pink frosting, and with the "correct number" of pink candles.

A sumptuous three-course turkey dinner was served to the members and a few invited guests. Mrs. Murphree was assisted in serving by Mrs. R. S. Boyd, Mrs. J. V. Wright, and Mrs. W. F. Palmer. A most delightful evening was spent.

Ozark Credit Association Is Now Receiving Applications

The Ozark Production Credit Association is now receiving daily many applications for crop production loans.

For many years it has been realized by leaders of the various branches of the farming industry that perhaps the greatest weakness in the farming structure was lack of a permanent source of credit for crop production at a reasonable cost to the farmer.

The Ozark Production Credit Association is an institution set up for the purpose of giving to the farmer a permanent source of credit for crop production. Only farmers can own voting stock in the Association. This assures that the Association will be controlled by the farmers themselves.

Being set up as a permanent institution, it naturally follows that all loans made must be on a basis of adequate liquid security. In fact, the system and permanency of the system will depend upon the extension of credit on a sound basis. The primary security will be a first mortgage on all crops to be grown by the borrower, and secondary security, a first mortgage on chattel property, located in the county where the crops are raised. These mortgages will be considered only as additional collateral.

The money loaned by the Association is obtained by re-mortgaging farmers' or stockmen's notes to the Federal Intermediate Credit Bank. Necessarily, the loan must be made before it can be considered.

Assuming that an applicant is a good credit risk, the Association will give a good reputation for paying his debts, two major factors enter into the determination of the eligibility of an applicant for a loan: the probability that the normal expectancy of his cash crop will repay his mortgage, and the value of his chattel property.

The County Agents in all the counties of this district are locally experting with the Association. They are in position to realize the value of such an institution to the farmer, and they will be glad to advise with any farmer concerning it. They have selected in each of their counties a number of persons to assist the applicant in properly filling in his application.

The individual applicant can greatly expedite the handling of his loan if he will have ready when he makes his application all necessary waivers and subordination; a legal description of his work—stock, cattle, hogs, farm implements, and other personal property; a legal description of the land on which the farming operation is to be carried on; and or the land owned that he may wish to offer as additional security.

The Secretary-Treasurer is very enthusiastic about the potential value of the Association to the farmers of Southeast Alabama and firmly believes that every farmer who can visualize the aims and purposes of the Association will be anxious to cooperate with the organization to set up as a permanent source of crop production credit.

MESDAMES RHODES AND BLAIR JOINT HOSTESSES—

Mrs. T. T. Rhodes and Mrs. Willy Blair were joint hostesses at a social given at the Blair home last Thursday night for the members of the T. E. L. class of the Baptist Sunday School.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with Spring flowers. After the business meeting, an enjoyable hour was spent playing games, etc., after which a salad plate was served to sixteen members and a visitor, Mrs. H. M. Wayne, of Crawfordville, Ga.

A mechanic made the necessary repairs and brought the funeral car to Elba the following day. Funeral directors are called to all kinds of places at all hours of the day and night and the above mentioned incident is only a sample of what they have to contend with.

WHAT NEXT?—Local C. W. A. projects are still pretty much up in the air. Work was resumed throughout the county Tuesday morning after a three-day layoff. The list of workers had been reorganized and it was thought that the work would proceed on a steady basis. But recent word from Washington states that Coffee County is to be allowed only $5,000 for materials, including truck and mile hire, up to May 1. This is very disconcerting to local people, as it is feared that it will mean an early closing down of all projects hereabouts if this order is adhered to. However, a concerted effort is being made to obtain relief from this distressing situation. To attention work on the Elba levee at this stage would be nothing short of a calamity.

Rare Elements Are Needed By Plants

AUBURN, Ala.—Scientific research plant farm experience have revealed another new fact which is of major importance to farmers, and to the public. It is that certain elements are essential to the growth of the plant. These elements are also essential in the nutrition of people and other animals.

In a review of agricultural research Dr. Oswald Schreiner, chief of the division of soil fertility, Bureau of Chemistry and Soils, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., says that the discovery of these elements is of great importance.

Dr. Schreiner says that these elements are not being neglected, but attention is being turned to the economic elements, such as manganese, copper, boron, iodine and zinc, for these are now known to be needed.

"These elements," said Dr. Schreiner, "have been found to be essential factors in plant life and animal nutrition and health."

Dr. Schreiner's report covered experimental studies from several state experiment stations and from two foreign countries. While all of the elements mentioned were not included, the work already done was sufficient for him to issue a warning to farmers against continued use of fertilizers which do not contain limited amounts of these rare elements.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Blair, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Franklin and daughter, Dolores, spent Sunday in Florida.

NEWS IN BRIEF

Staple of Alabama cotton showed some improvement in 1933. The percentage of untenderable cotton produced in Alabama in 1933 was 8.6 per cent as compared with 15.4 per cent in 1932, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Several agricultural experiment stations have found that the so-called rare elements are needed by plants, and that animals, which include people. Elements now known as the rare group are manganese, copper, boron, iodine, zinc and others. Including them in fertilizers is being recommended for several crops where the soil is deficient in these elements.

Revenue to the state government of Alabama for the period October 1, 1932, to September 30, 1933, totaled $23,646,083 and was divided as follows: business taxes, 24.1 per cent; property tax, 24 per cent; federal aid, 18.9 per cent; gas tax, 14.6 per cent; auto tags, 8.3 per cent; earnings convict department, 6.4 per cent; other revenues, 3.7 per cent.

"Principal Sources and Uses of State and County Revenues in Alabama," is the title of a bulletin by James D. Pope, which has just been published by the Experiment Station of the Alabama Polytechnic Institute.
